Duluth man wins scholarship for law enforcement training

Mathew Holeman of Duluth is one of 13 law enforcement students statewide to receive a $600 scholarship from the Minnesota Sheriff's Association (MSA). St. Louis County Sheriff Ross Litman presented Holeman with a check on behalf of the MSA.

Holeman is a junior at the University of Wisconsin – Superior, where he is pursuing a self-designed major combining political science, history and sociology; with a minor in criminal justice. He's already earned an Associate's Degree in Law Enforcement from Fond du Lac Tribal and Community College.

The MSA awards scholarships each year to law enforcement students to assist with training and education expenses. This year's recipients represent a broad spectrum of applicants, and were chosen based on qualifications and academic excellence that reflect the dedication and pride of those choosing to enter the difficult but rewarding profession of law enforcement and public service. Additional information about the award and the MSA can be found online at mnsheriffs.org.

Serving more than 200,000 people living within St. Louis County's 7,000 square miles, the St. Louis County Sheriff's Office operates out of regional offices in Duluth, Virginia and Hibbing, with additional stations in Ely, Mountain Iron and Aurora.
