No wake zone to be lifted on Kabetogama Lake beginning Friday

The No Wake Zone order, which has been in effect for the last two weeks on Kabetogama Lake in northern St. Louis County, will be lifted effective tomorrow, July 4. Water levels have receded enough that boaters and other water craft operators can resume normal speeds on the lake.

Heavy rainfall last month had caused water levels to rise so significantly that boat wakes were damaging sandbagging efforts.

The water level remains high, and the St. Louis County Sheriff's Office urges citizens to continue to follow safe boating practices to ensure a happy July 4 holiday for all.
